CHAS. W. DAVIS,

# THE # PROGRAMME

The primary idea of this Programme is, of course, to enlighten the audience as to the personnel of the artists taking part in the performances, incidentally to serve as a guide to the plot of the piece, and generally to give such information as will tend to the enjoyment of the auditor.

Reading matter of a miscellaneous nature, is, however, liberally supplied, that may be perused with interest and advantage. Quips and Quirks give zest to the solid matter, as sauces do to meats, but there is a fund of information in the advertisements that may be seriously considered with profit.

The publishers are prepared to attend to all business in the way of general and special advertising.

Respectfully,

BELTON & ROOTE,

Advertising Agents.

HIS BUSINESS.

They were spending the summer in the mountains, and men were few. The little, stout, middle-aged man seemed to be the life of the hotel. He was everywhere, attending to everything. He had a smile and a joke for everybody, and had been particularly devoted to the young girl from Chicago.

"I hate gloomy men," she said, "I like to see men bright and jolly and cheerful, like you. I think a man's business creeps into his manner to a considerable extent, don't you?"

UES.

"Um, well, I don't know," he said, "it may, but you can't always tell."

"I can," she said cheerfully. " At least I can generally come pretty close to it. Now, you take that funereal, solemn looking man that we see on the veranda every night, he looks and acts as it he had lost his last friend and never expected to have another. He is sombre in his dressing, too. His manner shows how seriously he looks at life, and if an observing person can't tell exactly what his business is, she ought to be able to get somewhere near it, anyway."

"What should you think he was?"

"An undertaker, or a tombstone manufacturer, or a divorce lawyer, or probably a heavy tragedian."
"Well, he isn't any one of them."

What is he?" "Do you know him?

she asked eagerly.

"He is a professional humorist." "Dear me, how surprising. Now, I should have thought that might have been your business, but certainly not his. What is your business?"

"Oh, I am an undertaker."-Chicago Times-Herald.

"So you are having your house redecorated, Mr. Hawkins?" "Yes; the workmen began last week." "Are you making radical clanges?" "Yes—very," "What is to be the main feature of the new house?" "You -if you'll consent."

Read and Reflect.

DOORS open for matinees at 2 p. m.; curtain rises at 2.30 p. m. Evenings.—Doors open at 7.30, and curtain rises at 8.15 p. m. sharp.

Tickets can be reserved two days in advance without extra charge.

Office open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Seats can be secured by mail, telegraph or telephone. Telephone 732.

Physicians are requested to register at the Box Office, leaving seat number, as this will enable Ushers to find them, if called for, without disturbing the audience.

Children in arms not admitted to evening performances. Children three years old or over, full price.

Patrons will confer a favor by reporting to the management any incivility or inattention on the part of the employees, and annoyances of any nature.

If the individual members of an audience would stop to think for just an instant, they would undoubtedly appreciate the fact that the habit of rising from their seat and leaving the theatre before the curtain falls, is a most annoying one, and one that should be stopped. We therefore beg our audiences to kindly remain in their seats until the close of the performance.

Carriages can be ordered at the Box Office or of the Chief Usher.

For all lost articles, apply at Box Office.

It is strange, but there is a class of people that seem to take an intense delight in bespattering the floor with tobacco juice, and in being boisterous and using profane language. These people should know at once that the courts authorize their immediate expulsion, should the management see fit to exercise its rights.

C. J. WHITNEY, Lessee.

A GREAT HEAD FROM WAYBACK.

Mr. Hardacre (just returned from city)— Tell yer what, Becky, I've been a darned fool to let my money lay in th' savings bank at 3 per cent. all these years, when they pay 50 per cent. down ter New York.

Mrs. Hardacre— I don't believe they pay no such interest!

Mr. Hardacre—Oh, yer don't, Mrs. Smarty, don't yer? Well yer Uncle Hardacre just loaned $100 at that rate ter day. I'll tell you how I done it. I met a right slick-lookin' young man in front of the Astor House, and he says ter me, says he: "Sir, I would like to borrow $100, for which I will pay 50 per cent. interest." "But," says I "I don't know yer, and how am I to tell that you will pay me the interest?" "If you doubt me, sir," says he, "I will pay you the 50 per cent. in advance." Well that looked safe enough, so I give him two $50 notes, and he paid me one of them back for the interest right on the spot. I'm to meet him at the Astor House every year and get the interest. I tell you what, Becky, it makes me mad to think what I've lost all these years.—From Puck.

First horse—"Well, they took poor old Dobbin to the slaughter-house to-day." Second horse—"That's too bad." First horse—"It is bad, but worse remains. They mean to make his hide into bicycle-saddles."

AS GOOD AS WHEAT.

Buffalo Express.

"I see," remarked the wide-awake farmer, "that wheat has gone up to seventy cents in Chicago, and there's a report that it will keep goin' till it gets to one dollar. Now, I'd like to contract to sell you my crop for seventy cents. Seventy cents will do me. I'd rather have a sure thing while it's goin' than to take my chances on doin' better by waitin'.

"But," replied the commission merchant, "I can't agree to contract for your wheat at seventy cents.

"Why not? It's goin' up to a dollar an' you'll make thirty cents a bushel. Ain't that

"Oh, yes; but you see that seventy cents is only a speculative price. It ain't what they pay for real wheat."

"Don't pay that for real wheat? What in thunder do they pay for, then?"

"Why, for options." "Well, what the blazes are options?"

"Why, they're promises to get wheat and sell it for such and such a price."

"Well, then, they got to get the wheat, ain't they?"

"No; they sell the promises again, according as the market rises or falls."
"An' don't they buy an' sell any real wheat at all?"

" Not much."

"Just buy an' sell wind at seventy cents a bushel?"

" That's about it."

"Thunder an' Mars, wish I'd knowed that last fall. I wouldn't a-sowed any wheat. I'd tied my grain bags to the back o' my fannin mill an' kept the boy turnin' it all winter, till I'd filled all the bags I could get hold of. But it ain't too late yet. By gosh, if it's wind they want 'stead of wheat, I can supply the market for the hull country right off my farm !'

First citizen (in the near future)-" Who is that they're goin' to string up?" Second citizen—"That's the man that stole Tornado Pete's bicycle."

"War," said the lecturing philanthropist, "is a horrible evil. The warrior is a survival of barbarism-What's that! A drum! Soldiers coming!! Open the window. I want to see them."—Boston Transcript.
